

Sr Data Analyst

Cribl United States Remote

About the job

Cribl does differently.

What does that mean? It means we are a serious company that doesn't take itself too seriously; and we're looking for people who love to get stuff done, and laugh a bit along the way. We're growing rapidly - looking for collaborative, curious, and motivated team members who are passionate about putting customers first. As a remote-first company we believe in empowering our employees to do their best work, wherever they are.

As the data engine for IT and Security many of the biggest names in the most demanding industries trust Cribl to solve their most pressing data needs. Ready to do the best work of your career? Join the herd and unlock your opportunity.

Why You'll Love This Role

As a part of the Data Analytics function at Cribl, you will be responsible for empowering data-driven decision-making across Cribl by scaling our business intelligence system, democratizing the use of data, and championing data best practices! You will be a key contributor to our centralized Analytics team, partnering closely with our Product, Engineering, Data Engineering , and Customer Experience functions.

The team also enjoys spending time with each other remotely, at offsites, and geeking out on the latest foodie hot spots! If you are someone that is passionate about making an impact and being a part of a company that is on its way to become legendary, we'd like to talk with you.

If You Got It, We Want It

- Collaborate with cross-functional stakeholders to understand their business needs and formulate end-to-end analysis that includes data gathering, analysis, visualizations
- Translate underlying needs of our business into key metrics and frequently analyze and report to stakeholders
- Maintain, develop, and automate reporting needs at Cribl with an ability to context switch between projects; this role will be divided between supporting ad-hoc data requests and project work
- Scale our data technology stack by managing data sets into our data warehouse, creating meaningful data transformations, and making data available in our BI tool
- Empower Criblarians to self-service all their data needs by developing, scaling and leading the enablement of our centralized BI tool

As An Active Member Of Our Team, You Will Have...

- Four years of experience working with product data and working closely with stakeholders to establish a roadmap of technical work
- Proven ability to derive insights, conduct strategic analysis, and create clear and compelling data visualizations from large data sets across multiple sources.
- Familiarity with the modern data tech stack (Snowflake, dbt e.g) and BI tools (Looker, Tableau, e.g). Advanced technical expertise in SQL, data modeling, and building dashboards.
- Strong communication and organizational abilities, capable of leading strategic projects with minimal guidance and managing priorities effectively.
- Analytical thinker comfortable with ambiguity, self-motivated, and adept at working cross-functionally. Especially adept at embracing change and resourcefully addressing problems that don't have clear solutions.
- Excels in collaborative environments, engaging effectively with peers and stakeholders to achieve goals and actively participate in meetings.
- Possesses a proactive and high degree of ownership, astutely identifying opportunities for improvement, driving new processes, and rallying the team to solutionize problems together.

Bonus Points

- Working experience at a fast-growing SaaS company
- Experience with Python (or equivalent scripting language)
- Excited about the observability space
